

Seismic reflection profile recorded in a noisy urban area near the Santa Barbara Airport. This 850-foot long profile was recorded in one-day using an accelerated weight-drop seismic energy source. The yellow and green reflection patterns show layering within the Quaternary Santa Barbara formation. The blue and purple patterns show Monterey Formation layering.